Chateau Club Wagon

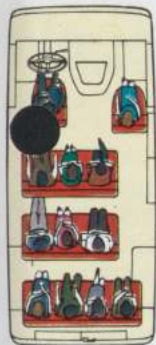

You've probably noticed the growing number of Ford Club Wagons being driven by women. That's because they were designed as family vehicles with the housewife in mind. Club Wagons are roomy inside but compact outside—easy to drive and park. Even the long wheelbase models are shorter (bumper to bumper) than many small station wagons.

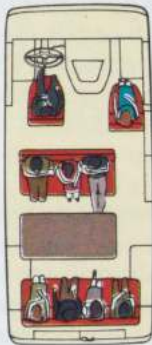

Ford Club Wagons are easy to step into, and as you sit comfortably behind the wheel, you'll see that all controls are placed conveniently. The driver can quickly step from his seat into the rear passenger area without going outside. Instead of blocking the way, the engine is forward, and its padded cover has a flat top with raised edges to serve as a handy package tray.

Factory-installed air conditioner option provides effective cooling. Convenient controls are located on the left side, where they can be reached easily by driver and rear passenger. Three-speed fan lets you vary the air flow through five adjustable louvered outlets to suit individual needs. Ford Club Wagons retain their clean, uncluttered look by locating the evaporator assembly under the floor. And the wind resistance and garaging problems encountered with roof-mounted units are eliminated.

SelectShift Cruise-O-Matic option permits fully automatic or manual shifting. "Second hold" feature gives better control up or down long hills. The standard manual transmission is fully synchronized in all three forward gears for easy, clashfree shifting.

Auxiliary hot water heater for the rear passengers is located under the first 3-passenger seat. Air flow from this optional, high-capacity unit is directed to all rear passenger areas. Convenient fan control is located under the instrument panel.

Ford's exclusive Twin-I-Beam front suspension is standard for smooth riding stability. This famous independent suspension features two I-Beam front axles cushioned by coil springs for optimum riding comfort under all road and load conditions.

They provide a versatile, compact bus for public and private schools, transporting the handicapped, Sunday schools, Scouts, team events and field trips. Club Wagons are easy to drive with wide-track maneuverability and stability. And there is no hood to obstruct front visibility. School bus package* includes HD alternator and battery, banded front door glass, inside rear door latch, front and rear roof warning lights with door switches and manual control.
